THE CHALLENGE

The North Spencer County School Corporation built a brand new facility to better accommodate its growing needs. Within the North Spencer County School Corporation building, it was important to Dan Scherry, Superintendent, to create spaces that facilitated conversations and collaboration. The design plan needed to accommodate new offices, small meeting rooms, impromptu seating areas, and a large gathering space.

THE DESIGN

The Corporation partnered with National Office Furniture to design spaces that allowed staff and students to embrace 21st Century learning and hold true to its motto of “Shaping Tomorrow Today”. Scherry worked with National to collaborate on ideas and benchmark other facilities to ensure successful spaces were designed. When developing the floorplan, he needed private offices and an inviting waiting area. Also needed were small meeting spaces to accommodate 2-8 people and a large training space to provide a solution for up to 40 guests to be comfortably seated with flexible furniture that could be rearranged depending on the need.

THE FURNISHINGS

North Spencer County School Corporation chose National’s furniture to outfit their entire space. WaveWorks and Tessera casegoods were selected for private office environments as well as meeting spaces. To complement these selections, a variety of executive task and lounge seating solutions were chosen, including Delgado, Farrah, Volute, and Audio. The staff café features seated and counter height surfaces with Cinch seating and Essay stools. WaveWorks mobile nesting training tables and Jiminy flip/nest seating gives the board room flexibility, allowing for creative configurations that accommodate a variety of meeting needs. Completing the space, Fringe lounge seating adds additional seating and a comfortable, welcoming impression.

THE RESULTS

Superintendent Scherry worked with the National team to ensure that the design of the Corporation building, along with the functionality and style of the furniture met all of the requirements. By maximizing space and incorporating small group meetings into private office areas, the staff boosted its productivity and increased overall usable space.

These meeting spaces created dual zones for working and collaborating. The mobile seating and tables in the board room allow for easy reconfiguration, depending on the application or intent of the gathering. The break room and waiting areas provide comfortable, welcoming spaces for guests and staff.
