National Office Furniture's Fordsville, Kentucky, Facility Named Large Business of the Year

JASPER, Ind., December 27, 2017 – National Office Furniture, a unit of Kimball International, Inc., received the 2017 Ohio County Chamber of Commerce Large Business of the Year award. National's Fordsville, Kentucky, facility was honored at the annual awards ceremony for their demonstration of sound business practices, leadership, productivity, and quality. The facility was also honored for its employee relations and commitment to the broader community.

The Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors select nominees that meet the above requirements and also demonstrate initiative and innovation in business. The Chamber takes these factors into consideration and honors those that create a balance between employee satisfaction, company success, and community involvement. Chamber members then vote and choose a recipient.

The Fordsville facility was honored with this prestigious award in recognition of their growth and development in the Fordsville area as well as ongoing efforts dedicated to safety, quality, and continuous improvement.

"It was a great pleasure to notify our employees that Fordsville won this award and received recognition from the residents of the county," said John Ramburger, National's Plant Manager, Fordsville Facility. "During the award ceremony, numerous people talked about what National and Kimball International mean to this county and its citizens. This award would not be possible if it weren't for the contributions our employees make and the many interactions our employees have in the community letting their personality shine."
